

Andy Brown Profile - 2012

Overview

A successful plc director, business consultant and entrepreneur; Andy has held senior executive positions with BskyB, ASDA, Boots and The Burton Group (now Arcadia). He worked with Archie Norman and Allan Leighton as a part of the ASDA turnaround team delivering £100m in cost savings. In 1997 he established and went on to sell business transformation consulting business 'Active Management' and then a business-to-business profiling firm 'TiVA'. Along the way he has worked with many large, well known organisations around the world on a range of business transformation projects and recently led as interim Chief Executive, a major business transformation for a £500m turnover supply organisation. He currently advises the main board of a £3billion plc, is Managing Director of BrightWorks, Non-Executive Director for a number of businesses and Member of the Board of the UK's biggest regional charity, Yorkshire Cancer Research. Andy is married to Polly and they live with their three children, on the edge of the Yorkshire Dales in the north of England.
